GRAYLING, MICHIGAN, AUGUST 31, 1922

NUMBER 35

SCHOOL WILL BEGIN TUESDAY

DOMESTIC SCIENCE DEPT. ADDED. MANY NEW TEACHERS.

There will be no school bell to call the children of Grayling together next Tuesday morning, but never-the-less they will be on hand as usual, back to their studies after an abrupt ending to their summer vacations. School duties will be resumed with fresh and brightened minds which the vacation has prepared for the reception of knowledge that will be imparted during the next nine months to the graduating generation and future public men and women in every community throughout the land where the tread of nimble feet respond to the call.

The young man or young woman who does not answer the call of school and by studious endeavors gain the requisite knowledge that will finally place their names upon the graduating roll of the school, will have neglected the greatest opportunity of life.

It is difficult for them to grasp the truthfulness of that assertion at a time when studies seem dull and useless and other occupations and pleasures more enticing to the young and vigorous minds, but in later life will come the stern realization with such tremendous force as to cause life-long regrets.

There is but a short period in life when a high school education may be attained, and if we fail to utilize the great privileges open to us during that period we have not only neglected the greatest of all opportunities for our own advancement in the realities and usefulness of future life but we have begotten the community of the better citizenship and the better and more efficient service we might give to mankind had we but availed ourselves of the educational opportunities so freely open to us in our youth.

Get ready, girls and boys, and don't let anything keep you from the winning that will come to you in the future.

GRAYLING 12 ROSCOMMON 1

One-sided Exhibition Sunday. Crowd of Roscommon Rooters Attended Game.

The game of base ball played on the local diamond last Sunday between Grayling and Roscommon, was easily won by Grayling by a score of 12 to 1. Grayling registered sixteen hits, one of which was a three-base hit, 9 two-base hits and the remainder singles. Five scattered hits, all singles, were Roscommon could scrape up. "Red" Johnson of Roscommon, first baseman, made the lone error, when he singled and stole second and scored when DeWaele singled, and reached first. Grayling's scores were made in bunching their hits, in the first inning just for a starter they scored four runs. It was a quick game—probably the quickest of any game played here this season.

It was a fine day for motoring and Roscommon team was accompanied by a large band of loyal rooters.

The score by innings was as follows:
Roscommon 0 0 0 0 1 0 0 0 1 5 2
Grayling 4 0 3 1 0 0 3 1 12 16 1
Batteries for Grayling, Laurant and Johnson, Reynolds; for Roscommon, A. McDonald, Sargent and E. McDonald. Three base hit: W. Laurant.
Two base hits: Smith, Milnes, W. Laurant, P. Johnson, Russell Johnson, Nelson, Reynolds, 3.
Struck out by Laurant 10; by McDonald and Sargent 8.
Umpires DuClos and LaLonde.

In the near future Grayling has a game scheduled for two days with East Jordan to be played on the local diamond. These will no doubt be fast ones.

JOSEPH BURTON PASSED AWAY

WAS ONE OF GRAYLING'S LEADING CITIZENS.

Joseph C. Burton died at his home Saturday morning at 10:00 o'clock. His death was caused from cancer, after an illness of several months duration.

Mr. Burton was one of the pioneers of Grayling and Crawford County. He came into Northern Michigan from Canada in the year 1880, and took a position with The Gratic, Smith & Fryer Co., of Otsego Lake, with whom he was identified for several years, during which time he had a varied experience in the North woods. Later he was in charge of the Stevens Lumber company, of Waters up to the time he came to Grayling in 1887.

Here he was employed by Michael Hartwick, and later purchased the Hartwick building which was changed to the name of Burton hotel. It is he operated as a hotel until year 1911, when he purchased a farm in Beaver Creek township which he named Edgewood. To this he gave his full attention and energies, and now the Edgewood farm is known all over Crawford County as one of our finest farms, with modern barn, silo, house and with fields that have brought back to their owner many times their value in profits. It was thru Mr. Burton's personal efforts that this farm has won a reputation that may well be the envy of all.

Mr. Burton was born in Woodstock, Canada, March 13, 1859. He was united in marriage to Miss Margaret Straehly in the year 1885, who has since been his life companion. They have three children, Mrs. Harry Simpson of this city, besides his wife and daughter he is survived by two brothers, William of Saginaw, and James of Magnet, Neb., and a sister, Mrs. John Hendron of Toronto, Canada.

The funeral services were held at the family home at eight o'clock Sunday evening and were conducted by Rev. Frank Copeland of the Episcopal church of West Branch. After the funeral sermon the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, of which Mr. Burton had been a member, took charge of the services. The pall bearers were Henry Bauman, Mayor C. A. Canfield, Burton Shaw, Chris Olson, Fred W. Welsh and William McNeven, honorary pall bearers, Holger F. Peterson, Dr. C. R. Keyser, A. M. Lewis, E. G. Shaw, Emil Kraus, and E. G. Condon.

The body was taken on the night train to Bronson, Mich., for burial. In the death of Mr. Burton, Grayling loses one of its most esteemed citizens, and one who was held in the highest respect by everyone with whom he came in contact. He never had anything ill to say of anyone and was always ready with a word of cheer. He took a keen interest in civic affairs, having served several years on the village council and also a term as supervisor of Grayling township. His judgment was frequently sought in matters of importance.

He was a model husband and father and was dearly loved by those who were close to him. He was a good citizen, a loyal friend. He was a member of Grayling Lodge F. & A. M.; Grayling Chapter R. A. M.; Bay City Consistory, and Elks, Bay City; Moslem Temple, Detroit, and Grayling Chapter, O. E. S.

MRS. FRANK M. FREELAND.

Mrs. Jennie Freeland, wife of Frank M. Freeland, was born in Utica, Michigan, September 23, 1853 and died in Grayling, Friday, August 18, 1922. Twenty years ago this month Mrs. Freeland came to Grayling from Detroit to reside, accompanied by her family. She was known at that time known as Mrs. James H. Schoonover. Mr. Schoonover having passed away a number of years ago.

Brief services were held at the Freeland home in this city Sunday evening, August 20, Rev. C. E. Doty officiating. Several beautiful hymns were rendered by the choir of the Michelson Memorial church. The remains were taken that night to Utica, Mich. for burial the following Monday afternoon, where they were laid to rest beside those of her first husband. Four daughters and one son born to the first union survive—Mrs. Clark Yost and Jess Schoonover of this city, and Mrs. W. G. Feldhauser of Maple Forest, who are well known to Grayling people. During the illness of Mrs. Freeland she was given every comfort by her husband and children. Also besides those above mentioned Mrs. Freeland is survived by her husband, and two sisters, Maude and Kate Brown of Pontiac. The former was in Grayling to visit her sister during her illness; both were in attendance at the funeral. Besides there were also Mr. Freeland, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Yost, Mr. and Mrs. Jess Schoonover and Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Feldhauser of this county.

LADIES AID TO ELECT OFFICERS.

Members of the Ladies Aid Society of the Michelson Memorial Church, please take notice that our regular monthly meeting will be held Friday afternoon, September 1st. Will all members please try and be on hand at 2:30 o'clock? The meeting will be very important as election of officers takes place and we hope for a full attendance.

Will members who are in arrears with dues and tank offerings, please send their money to the secretary by the end of the week. Also those who have not turned in their experience money. We would like to close the year's work and not carry over back dues. The refreshment committee for July, August and September will serve lunch. The ladies are splendid cooks so do not miss the treat.

For a Better Town.

Conducted by Grayling Board of Trade.

Will We Land That Factory?

For the good of Grayling's future let everyone, who has an interest in the town, get behind the Board of Trade and help to "put across" the project that is now before them. There is no need to make a big story about this matter now; this is the time for action, and then after we get it cinched we can herald the news to the world. A strong pull all together now and the victory will be won. Don't lay down until we win or at least until every possible effort has been made.

More money is needed. If you own property, success in this effort will be worth anything you may give toward the required fund. Whether or not your property is going up or going down in value, depends in a large measure upon success right now. The business men are all doing nobly but they cannot do it all. Everyone help. A. M. Lewis, M. Hanson and T. P. Peterson are the soliciting committee and will be glad to receive your contributions. HOLGER F. PETERSON, President. PRO BOZO PUBLICO. Grayling Board of Trade.

WANT WET OR DRY CANDIDATE?

CANDIDATES CLAIMING TO FAVOR PROHIBITION.

Answer Questionnaire Sent Out by Anti-Saloon League.

Officials pledged to uphold the prohibition laws will be pretty generally nominated when electors of Crawford County go to the polls at the primary, September 12.

Data on the state-wide canvass of candidates on the prohibition issue by the Michigan Anti-Saloon League was given out at the Lansing Headquarters Tuesday and shows most of the candidates in this county have indicated that their position is favorable to the drys.

Virtually every candidate for nomination at the primaries in the state has been put on record in what probably stands as the most complete primary poll ever made in Michigan. The aim of the drys, it is stated, has been to gather data which would aid supporters through the state in their choice at the polls Sept. 12.

There were a few Crawford county candidates who failed to return questionnaires. In each case, a second questionnaire and personal letter urging an immediate reply have been sent out. It has been the experience of state-dry league that candidates thus avoiding the issue are usually favorable to the wet and indifferent.

Candidates of this county who returned questionnaires on which they indicated that their stand on prohibition and law enforcement was favorable to the drys are as follows: Sheriff—Chas. Fehr, Grayling, Rep. Prosecuting Attorney, Homer L. Fitch, Grayling, Rep. State Senator, H. S. Karcher, Rose City, Rep. John Schmidt, Reed City, Rep. State Representative, Nelson Farrier, Hillman, Rep. Congressman, Roy O. Woodruff, Bay City, Rep.

Candidates for sheriff who have not yet replied to the questionnaire are Jess Bohmeyer, William H. Cody, Alonzo Gollen, Homer G. Peterson, Peter F. Jorgenson and John B. Slingerland.

The questionnaire was designed to put the candidate on record as to his view on repeal, modification, or enforcement of the existing prohibition laws. W. V. Waltman, superintendent of the Michigan Anti-Saloon League who conducted the canvass, in a statement announcing the results, said: "It is our view that prohibition needs only a fair trial to be made a complete success. Our aim in making this canvass has been to give to our thousands of dry friends information as to the stand of candidates on this great issue. We feel confident that the success of prohibition rests in the hands of intelligent officials who have the proper regard for the law and the proper ambition to uphold it. It is the purpose of the league and its thousands of friends in Michigan to see that men who have pledged to uphold prohibition and enforce the law do so during their term of office."

The League bulletin states that with the exception of the Socialist candidate all the candidates for United States Senator, Emory, Townsend, Kelley, Baker, Ferris and Titus, have indicated that they are favorable to prohibition and strict law enforcement.

CRAWFORD COUNTY WINS 2ND PRIZE

AGRICULTURAL EXHIBIT AT BAY CITY FAIR ATTRACTS MUCH COMMENT.

Those of our farmers who contributed articles for exhibition at the Bay City fair this week will be gratified to learn that the judges awarded Crawford County second prize.

This information is received from Agricultural agent R. D. Bailey in a brief message to the AVALANCHE. The report does not say which county won first prize.

When we looked over the line of articles that came into Mr. Bailey's office last week before they were packed up for shipping, it made our heart swell with pride to see what wonderful products could be raised here in our home town and county. Principal among the articles were apples, plums, pears, potatoes, beans, carrots, bagas, pumpkins and a great array of grasses such as clover, timothy, rye, vetch, soy beans, sweet clover, alfalfa, millet and others.

Any county in the state of Michigan that could beat it would have to put up a wonderful exhibit.

Mr. Bailey, assisted by some of the supervisors will take this exhibit to the State fair at Detroit for exhibition next week, just as soon as the Bay City fair closes.

SEN. CHARLES E. TOWNSEND
Republican Candidate for U. S. Senator.

Mr. Townsend resides in Jackson and served several terms in Congress and is now serving his second term in the U. S. Senate. The only thing his adversaries seem to be able to find fault about with him, after looking over his record with powerful microscopes, is for something that New-Yorker did.

Nobody questions Mr. Townsend's integrity and ability.

HERBERT H. BAKER
Republican Candidate for U. S. Senator.

Mr. Baker resides in Cheboygan, which district he served several years in the State Senate. His campaign manager, Forrest A. Lord of Grayling, claims that if he gets 50 per cent of the farmer votes he will be nominated.

FARM BUREAU NOTES

LIMESTONE LEGUMES LIVESTOCK

MEAN PROFITS IN FARMING

FARM BUREAU NOTES.

Thank You.

I must cordially thank the many farmers who sent in such generous contributions to the Crawford County Exhibit at Bay City, Detroit and Saginaw Fairs.

Looks Good.

These notes are written in Bay City. Our exhibit is up and looks good. We have on exhibition one hundred plates of splendid fruit and potatoes. Our grasses and grains are good as any shown. Our corn is as tall as any. John Love and W. G. Feldhauser are here on the job.

Marketing Hints for Our Farmers.

All our farmers would like to sell more. There are ways to do it. If all will take it kindly, I will suggest a few ways of improving a farmer's selling.

(1) Make extra effort to have something early, like peas, lettuce, green corn, rhubarb, chickens, early potatoes.

(2) Offer it in attractive form. Rhubarb looks more appetizing when tied into bunches neatly trimmed. Potatoes, if scabby ones, bad shaped, cut with digging tools are left at home.

(3) Eggs are too often offered in a soiled condition that once repels the buyer. White and brown eggs should not be offered in same lot. If one has customers that prefer white-shelled eggs, keep the breed that lays such.

(4) Farm produce is too often offered in soiled baskets.

(5) Personal appearance of the seller may be untidy—hands and finger-nails nasty.

(6) In this age of automobiles, the customer is likely to pass the home of the farmer, or visit both kitchen and barn—let us be sure that these visits give the customer confidence that the milk is produced under strict clean conditions, and that the milk, cream and butter are handled in the kitchen under same conditions.

(7) Chickens are often dressed so that they look disgusting with skin pulled off.

(8) Don't come into town along towards Saturday noon and expect grocers to take your produce.

(9) It is running a big risk to dig a lot of potatoes, pick a lot of peas, apples, or green corn, and bring them to town late, expecting the grocer to buy them.

We have no reason to blame him if he does not.

They didn't know that you were coming. To protect themselves for their Saturday trade they have to order from a dependable supply, namely the wholesale house in Bay City.

This is unfortunate for the transportation, as to be added to the original cost of the produce. The cost is higher to the consumer, and the local farmer is cut the money that he needs and that he might have received by furnishing the same article.

(10) Farmers ought to arrange ahead with grocers to take the produce they expect to bring in, then taking it over if it rains pitch forks.

Those who bring produce to cities are there before seven in the morning. It is no snap to do so; but they get the trade.

(11) Thousands of dollars for food products—fruit, vegetables, butter and eggs are sent away every summer by Grayling grocers that could be taken in by Crawford County farmers, and that I think Grayling merchants would gladly pay to Crawford County farmers if the farmer would do his part.

(12) The reason this money is sent away is simply the lack of a dependable supply for the stores from the farmers.

BIGGER AND BETTER THAN EVER.

For a number of years the Otsego County Fair held at Grayling has drawn large crowds on account of the high class amusements and attractions it books. This year the fair promises to excel all previous fairs in the quality and quantity of its exhibits and attractions. A famous Marine Band and Fuller's Chicago Orchestra will furnish most delightful music. The night attractions are pavements danced by expert waltzers, and Thursday evening, September 7th, an ox roast will occur and free hot roast beef sandwiches will be served to all comers. Acrobatic stunts by talented trapeze artists, horse races, base ball games by noted clubs, merry-go-round, Ferris wheel, the airplane man, and a "chamber of horrors" will be features to amuse and captivate the crowds. The fair dates are Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, September 5, 6, 7, and 8. Plan to be there.

There will also be stock and agricultural exhibitions, fancy goods, mercantile displays, poultry, vegetables, farm machinery, etc.

BABY TREES.

By Marcus Schaff.

With the opening of spring one of the busiest spots in all of the State Forest Domain has been the pine tree nursery at Higgins Lake State Forest, nine miles west of Roscommon. From this little patch of twelve acres come every spring and fall thousands upon thousands of trees required in the reforestation of the state's idle acres. Of the six or seven million trees now standing in the nursery, two and one-half millions are available for transferring to permanent sites each season. This stock is distributed to all of the eight state forests where it is set in the form of plantations to the extent of approximately 1600 acres. To get this material out keeps a crew of some thirty men busy for a period of five or six weeks which is the usual duration of the planting season. Operations begin just as soon as the frost has left the ground. The stock is carefully lifted, sorted, counted and packed in sphagnum moss in baskets or boxes which contain from 5000 to 20,000, which are shipped by express or delivered by truck so as to avoid undue delay. As soon as received crews are at hand on such of the forest as to get the trees into the ground immediately.

Simultaneously with these operations each spring and fall the sowing of hundreds of pounds of pine seeds takes place in the nursery in order to take care of the semi-annual depletion of the stock and maintain steady output. The seeds are sown in rows three to four inches apart in beds 3 1/2 to 4 feet. A bed produces from 2000 to 6000 seedlings, depending upon the species, and more than a thousand of such beds must be planted each season. As the pine seeds are very small containing anywhere from 20,000 to 120,000 per pound, it requires the gathering of large quantities of the cones to obtain a sufficient supply of seed. The cones must be harvested in the seed crop years, which occur only periodically, the intervals varying in the species. A fairly good yield of both Norway and jack pine was borne last year and several tons of cones of each are collected on the state forests.

The nursery at Higgins Lake where the seeds are extracted during the winter months by subjecting them to heat in specially constructed ovens. Upon completion of seed extraction it is usually time to again begin the work of sowing for the new and harvesting the old nursery crop.

Mrs. Frank Barnes, who arrived home from Battle Creek first of the week, reports that Mrs. Barnes is in a better condition and that the physicians say he cannot live long. He is in Roosevelt Memorial hospital, which is conducted by the American Legion, for ex-service men.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. A. Colten and daughters, Mrs. Walter LaMotte and baby, and Miss Lucida left today for Spencer, O., where they will visit the former's sister Mrs. S. W. Shaw. The latter was formerly Miss Anna Colten and lived at Frederic.

Mr. Colten and family left by auto and will be away about four weeks.

Of general interest to Grayling friends will be the marriage of Henry Gray E. Smith of Gladwin, circuit judge of the 34th Judicial Court, to Mrs. Maud E. Black of the same place that occurred on August 9th in Saginaw. Rev. Emil Montanus of St. John's church Saginaw performed the ceremony. The AVANCE joins with Judge Smith's Grayling friends in extending congratulations and best wishes.

For the 42nd time in as many years Uncle Perry Ostrander came to the AVANCE office Tuesday and paid for a year's subscription. We greatly prize the friendships this newspaper has made among the men of the type of Mr. Ostrander. His life has been one of 82 years of usefulness. While working for his bread and butter he has still had time to labor and think for others, and many a citizen has benefited by his material assistance and by his good counsel. He has been a loyal citizen, and we especially appreciate his loyalty to his home town newspaper.

Darwin's House at Down

It was in 1842 that Darwin began his 40 years' occupation of Down house in the village of Down, or Downe, as it was spelled in ancient times. When Darwin discovered this retired spot the only means of approach to the village was a 20-mile coach drive, as it was, to some extent, inaccessible which appealed to the great scientist. Among Darwin's many visitors at Down were Huxley and Mr. Gladstone, who was driven over one Sunday afternoon. John Morley tells us that as the statesman walked away Darwin, "shaking his eyes with his hand against the evening rays, said to me, 'What an honor that such a great man should come to visit me.'"

THE SQUIRRELS

"I've something to tell you," said Chippy Chippy to the squirrel whose name was Nutty Chum.

"What is it?" asked Nutty Chum. "I hope you're going to tell me where I can find some nice nuts, or maybe you are going to tell me of some eggs which I can steal, some little birds' eggs."

"I'm none too kind a creature. Some squirrels are different, but I'm Nutty Chum, the Red Squirrel, and I'm none too kind. I believe in having everything for myself. I believe in doing everything that will mean more riches, and prosperity for myself. I believe in taking everything I can and giving nothing away, and I think I am right. In fact, I know I am right. For I am Nutty Chum. And in my opinion, at any rate, I am more important than any other creature."

"I doubt if others would agree with you," said the Gray Squirrel.

"I certainly can't," he added. "For, you see, I am not like that. I believe myself much better than you do. I am really much better. You are very cross, Nutty Chum. All Red Squirrels aren't as cross as you are. And you are becoming more and more cross as the days go by. You should grow to be a kindly old squirrel instead of a cranky old squirrel who loses his temper all the time. You think you have

"You're a Rude, Horrid Squirrel."

A perfect right to talk as you want to talk to anyone, but should not one tell you what you are like or what you should do that you do not want to do? I can see how blustering and angry you are now."

"I am," said Nutty Chum. "I consider you a most important Gray Squirrel. I'm glad we belong to different families, and I'm glad we're not more friendly than we are."

"I'm glad of that, for I think you are a very rude squirrel."

"Maybe I am," said the Gray Squirrel, "but for once I would like to tell you what I think of you."

"Chippy Chippy has gone off his mind for nuts, and he'll have a talk to the forest that he wanted to talk to you."

"You have grown cross, more and more cross all the time. You are selfish. You think of no one but yourself. You want to be rich, and you don't care for any other creature in the world is without things so long as you can have them. You want everyone to give to you and to do things for you and you don't want to do a friendly act for them. You want to have more nuts than any other squirrel, and yet you will not share with any others. You want to frighten creatures with your angry voice so they won't stop to think that what you are saying is perfectly absurd. That is the way you want to do."

"But you better stop it, Nutty Chum, for everyone dislikes you. If anything happened to you, not a two-cent nut would come from a single squirrel. Think of that, Nutty Chum! What if you have added riches for yourself, you haven't a friend, and it is all your own fault. You may have plenty of nuts, but when you're sad and when you are sick nuts aren't the only comfort in the world."

"You will then want some friends, and you won't have any. Think it over, Nutty Chum. Think of the way you have been acting, the proud, blustering, selfish way you have been acting. And do not forget before it is too late that all the nuts and all the riches in the world won't make up for friends."

"You're a rude, horrid squirrel," said Nutty Chum. "I know what I am, for I am rich. I have one of the finest stores around these parts."

But he did not say any more, for he felt very sad. The squirrel had told him that if anything happened to him not a nut would be shed in the whole squirrel world, and not a cry would come.

"Perhaps I have been mistaken," said Nutty Chum. "Perhaps I have been wrong in thinking that riches were everything."

He saw the gray squirrel scampering down a tree with his toe nailed hooked to the bark so he would not fall.

He, too, knew that trick of holding on to the bark one way when he was coming down a tree and another way when he was going up a tree. But the gray squirrel had taught him something. He would see if it was not too late to learn the lesson.

Seeds in Doubt. Having helped his mother plant the seeds and place at the end of each row the pictured envelopes showing here a radish, there a beet and so on, little Edwin was quite distressed when he went out next day and found that the rainstorm had washed the envelopes off into the mud.

"Never mind, dear," comforted his mother. "It doesn't really matter."

"But, mamma," said the child, greatly worried, "how will the little seeds know what to be when they come up?"

GAMES NOW PLAYED BY RADIO

Checkers Only One of the Many Amusements That Lend Themselves to the Wireless.

"Playing games by radio is the newest sport," writes William Teller in the July St. Nicholas. "The boys in and around New York City who have small radio-telegraph sets, are having a great deal of fun nowadays in carrying on contests and tournaments through the air. Folks who are listening in hear conversations like this:

"It's four move, John. I just jumped from twenty to twenty-seven."

"All right, Tom; I'm moving from ten to fourteen."

"If we did hear a conversation like this, we should at once know that a game of checkers was being played. Checkers is only one of the many games that lend itself to radio. Playing radio checkers is just as easy and almost as fast as playing the game in the ordinary manner. In fact, it is more exciting than the usual game, because we are always playing an invisible opponent."

SET THE STANDARD TOO LOW

National Motion Picture Director Gives His Opinion as to Mistakes Made by Producers.

Will Hays, the new motion-picture director, said the other day in New York:

"Too many motion-picture people think that everything really good is highbrow. Their standard is too low. They are like the chorus girl."

"A chorus girl married a rich man after a stormy courtship of about a week, and the Sunday morning following the wedding, when she came downstairs to breakfast, she found her young husband engrossed in the two or three hundred enormous pages of the city's yellowest newspaper."

"Before this spectacle the chorus girl started back aghast."

"Heavens," she said, "I've married a highbrow."

NATIVE CONVERTS AT MEET

Peking Gathering Shows the Spread of Christianity in Countries of the Far East.

In early years of missionary conference, movements in non-Christian lands were often represented by workers from Christian lands who were laboring in the foreign field. To the recent conference held in Peking of the World's Student Christian Federation, however, the various movements sent as delegates sons and daughters of the soil, e. g. of the 21 Japanese delegates only two were non-Japanese. Of the nine from India all but three were Indians of the six representing Korea only one was a foreigner, of the nine from China and China all but one were citizens of those lands, and all of the 12 representing the Philippine Islands were Filipinos.

Sound Vibrations

It is reported that certain experts, who have shown a vibration of less than one-twelfth-millionth of a centimeter could still affect the sense of hearing.

Such a vibration would be so slight that it would have to be enlarged one hundred times before the most powerful microscope could render it visible, supposing that it were capable of being seen at all. And persons, it is said, do not hear high notes which are audible to young persons, and there is reason to believe that babies hear notes that are inaudible to their elders.—New York Herald.

Pointed

"Senator Penrose," said a Philadelphian, "had a neat way of putting things."

"At the Philadelphia club one evening a Philadelphia reformer came in for a good deal of criticism on the whole, for the fellow was a meddling, arrogant, offensive chap."

"Well, anyhow," said a banker charitably, "he's got his good points."

"Yes," said Penrose, "so's a porcupine."

Burglar Theory Falls Down

After the federal records in the post office at Vicksburg had been locked up for five days in a safe with a bulky combination lock, an expert was called from Grand Rapids to open the safe. Evidently, then, our belief that burglars open all combination safes at least once in three days was without foundation.—Detroit News.

YOUNG GIRLS NEED CARE

Mothers, watch your Daughters' Health

Health Is Happiness

From the time a girl reaches the age of twelve until womanhood is established, she needs all the care a thoughtful mother can give. The condition that the girl is then passing through is so critical, and may have such far-reaching effects upon her future happiness and health, that it is almost criminal for a mother or guardian to withhold counsel or advice.

Many a woman has suffered years of prolonged pain and misery through having been the victim of thoughtlessness or ignorance on the part of those who should have guided her through the dangers and difficulties that beset this period.

Mothers should teach their girls what danger comes from standing around with cold or wet feet, from lifting heavy articles, and from overworking. Do not let them over-study. If they complain of headache, pains in the back and lower limbs, they need a mother's thoughtful care and sympathy.

A household word in Mother's House writes Mrs. Lynd, about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Too Obedient

The devoted mother and her five-year-old daughter were seated in church. When the service began the mother said in an undertone: "Sit on the edge of the pew, dear, and bow your head."

The child obeyed and the mother turned her entire attention to the service. The whole congregation was respectfully quiet.

Suddenly the little girl's voice echoed through the stillness: "Hold onto me, mamma, I'm slidin' off!"

One of the most extraordinary and fitting memorials to a real American is the one that has been erected to commemorate the deeds of "Buffalo Bill" Cody—a rest house on the site of one of the ranches from which he sallied on the hunting expeditions which gave him his name and fame in the colorful days when the West was wild and woolly. Hotel Built on Gold Mine.
Eight years ago a new hotel was constructed in Helena, Mont., on Main street which occupies the site of Last Chance gulch, where the placer miners worked in the sixties and extracted something like $30,000,000. The contractor who excavated for the foundation hauled the ground away, washed it in sluice-boxes and made a tidy sum of money. It happened that the old-time placer miners didn't work the ground thoroughly. There are large areas of so-called placer ground in various parts of Western Montana which contain gold and which, according to report, might be profitable if dredged on a large scale. Chester C. Davis, commissioner of agriculture of Montana, in Adventure Magazine.

AN ACCIDENT

By ROSE E. SIMKO

(By McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)
Miracles usually follow accidents. Jerry's experience verified this, for the accident was truly accidental, with results emphatically miraculous.

Jerry would never have agreed to make up the foursome had he known that Dave Hallor was included. It would not be very courteous to withdraw at the last minute, so he greeted Dave on the first tee with a slight nod and a casual remark about the weather.

Jerry made did not approve of Hallor, for various reasons, but chiefly because Martha Dale was classed as his son's No. 1. Jerry had aspirations of building a big house for the family and paying her bill for the night and half an eye for Jerry to understand it was growing painfully evident that Martha appreciated Dave's company and enjoyed his chocolate to a disconcerting degree.

Teeling up this momentous afternoon Jerry considered all these events. It was only natural that he should absent-mindedly have gone out of his turn, or perhaps it was a whim of fate, and Dave and he drove off the first tee almost at the same time. There was a resounding crack followed by the crashing of glass. The golfers looked at each other, against one ball had broken through the windshield of an idle automobile, parked in the road adjoining the fairway.

Whose ball was responsible? No one but Jerry, which way the individual balls went, as both had been badly sliced.

"I guess it's yours, Jerry," one member of the foursome ventured. "I wasn't really looking, but I thought Dave's went into the bushes."

Jerry promptly dashed away to offer his apologies and make reparation for the damages. Breathlessly he reached the car. To his amazement he found a girl in a swoon. One cheek was bleeding from a slight scratch occasioned by a flying bit of glass.

"Martha!" he gasped. He looked about helplessly. What should he do? In another second he stepped into the car, gently shook Martha aside, and scattering himself behind the wheel, started the motor.

"Where are you going?" Dave shouted.

"To the hospital! She's hurt!" Jerry called back, his face very white. He drove down the road, and was thankful to have her to his right, as he was sure that she was not hurt. She was supposed to be in the hospital.

Presently she started unconscious.

"Oh, what has happened?" she asked in alarm.

"Stay quiet! You're hurt! I'm taking you to the hospital!" Jerry called back, his face very white.

"Jerry, you stop right here! I refuse to be taken to any hospital! I was more frightened than hurt!" The surprised youth brought the car to a halt. His heart thumped with the knowledge that Martha still seemed to enjoy the comfort of his shoulder. With a handkerchief he mopped the blood from her smooth cheek.

"The proximity was dangerous. It died Jerry with astounding courage. Perhaps he was unaccountable for his words, but Martha believed he was sincere about it.

"Martha, I love you! I'm just wild about you! Please tell me you care for me!"

And without waiting Jerry bent his head to kiss her. Then the miracle happened. She held up her lips to meet his! The world at once became a full of flowers and birds and beautiful things.

When they came back to the world, Jerry was first to speak.

"But—Martha, what about Dave? Oh, I'm a cad! I should not have compromised you like this!"

"You needn't worry," she said, pressing her cheek to his. "I know I was you all the time! I-I merely let Dave rush me just to wake you up and see if you really wanted me!"

There followed another interval of bliss, while no one looked.

Martha's toe kicked some round object. She bent down to pick up a bright, new golf ball, the one that had crashed through the windshield.

"Jerry, here's your ball. We ought to put it away as a remembrance of our engagement!"

"My ball?" Jerry exclaimed. "Why, this isn't my ball! See, there's an 'H' on it!"

Important Man at Serb Weddings.
The office of "Koon" is a far more responsible one than that of the English "best man." The "Koon" is a highly important man at every Serb wedding. He assists, the officiating clergy in performing the religious ceremony by holding two lit candles, and thus becomes a spiritual relation of the bride and groom. The relationship so established is of such a permanent nature that the children of the "Koon" and the children of the wedded pair are forbidden by law to marry.

The "Koon" has also to undertake the responsibility of being godfather to all the bride and bridegroom's children, and to attend each christening in person. If circumstances should prevent him from doing so he must give permission in writing to a deputy to replace him.

Term Has Changed Meaning.
In the time of Queen Elizabeth (1558-1603) and in the time of George I (1714-1727) the word "pound" was coined to the pound. This word still continues, but the term "pound" has lost its original meaning and simply signifies 20 shillings of the present coinage.

PERHAPS there are a few mothers who do not know the virtues of Fletcher's Castoria. Perhaps there are a few who know that there are imitations on the market, and knowing this demand Fletcher's. It is to ALL motherhood, then, that we call attention to the numerous imitations and counterfeits that may be set before them.

It is to all motherhood everywhere that we ring out the warning to beware of the "Just-as-good". For over thirty years Fletcher's Castoria has been an aid in the upbuilding of our population; an aid in the saving of babies.

And yet there are those who would ask you to try something new. Try this. Try that. Even try the same remedy for the tiny, scarcely breathing, babe that you in all your robust womanhood would use for yourself. Shame on them.

Wrong Conclusion.

Many of the old dainties in the South handle a violin bow with considerable skill. One such had an end player with similar tastes. One day he and the aged servant were napping together, and as they finished the piece the employer said: "You handle the bow pretty well, Joe, but you are always a bit of so behind. Why is that?"

"Out of defiance to you, colonel," said Joe.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Curiosity Satisfied.
A neighboring family, with relatives from a distant city, drove away in an automobile one morning for the country.

On their return I asked the father if they had had an enjoyable time. "We have just been to bury my father," he replied.—Chicago Tribune.
